A WORLD OF STORIES

The Norfolk Island Museum reveals to you Norfolk's amazing and multi-layered stories.

Famous for its colourful history, the island was first settled by the Polynesians, then in 1788 by the British who later made it a convict hell hole. Since 1856 it has been home to the descendants of the Bounty mutineers.

Located in a number of buildings in World Heritage listed Kingston we help you explore our turbulent past as well as today's living local culture.
